

DOCUMENT CREATION SYSTEM AND DOCUMENT CREATION PROGRAM

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Prescribed disclosure documents such as financial account documents and brief announcement of financial results or in-house management documents can be created on the basis of a combined account disclosure item defined by extending a combined account title to not only the combined account title represented by increase/decrease in money, but also number of stock holdings and increase/decrease in employee with a basic combined account disclosure item indicating a substance of the increase/decrease, which combined account disclosure item is made from three items of the aforesaid basic combined account disclosure item, a decrease disclosure item indicating a substance of the decrease, and an increase disclosure item indicating a substance of the increase in the process of managing business information expressible in numeric terms while adding a subsidiary disclosure item indicating subsidiary information to the combined account disclosure item, so as to create prescribed disclosure documents or other managing document from business information on the basis of the aforesaid combined account disclosure item and subsidiary information.